

MELDIO

The AI Audio Production Platform

Meldio is an AI-powered orchestration platform that transforms written content — scripts, training scenarios, case studies, manuscripts, and more — into professional, multi-voice audio experiences, without audio engineering or technical expertise.

Meldio doesn't generate content. It helps you present the content you already own, through one guided workflow: upload, identify voices, assign casting, and generate.

The Problem

Valuable written content is created every day — scripts, training scenarios, case studies, manuscripts, sales playbooks — and most of it is never heard. It sits on the page, read by a handful of people, rarely produced as a real audio experience.

Powerful AI voice and music tools exist today, but assembling them into a finished, multi-voice production is still fragmented, technical, and time-consuming. Teams and creators end up spending more time on production logistics than on the content itself.

Why Meldio

Meldio brings the entire process into one guided experience:

- Automatic character and speaker detection — upload written content and Meldio identifies every voice and line
- Guided voice assignment — choose from a curated voice library, with full control over every casting decision
- Performance direction — apply delivery cues so dialogue sounds natural, not robotic
- Optional music support — add background music or featured songs when a project calls for it
- Professional audio output — generate a finished, shareable audio file ready to send or publish

Built For

Business & Institutional

- HR and corporate training teams
- Healthcare training programs
- Sales enablement teams
- Government, public-sector, and university programs

Creative & Narrative

- Playwrights and musical theater writers
- Authors and novelists
- Screenwriters
- Podcast creators
- Educators
- Brands developing narrative content

Whether you're building an HR training scenario, a healthcare simulation, a sales enablement exercise, a theatrical reading, an audiobook sample, or a scripted podcast, Meldio helps move written content into finished audio.

Creator Protections

Meldio is built on a foundation of creator trust. Four commitments are featured prominently across the platform:

- Creator-Owned — content stays yours
- Private Workflow — protected development
- Rights Stay Yours — Meldio presents, not owns
- No Content Generation — your material, your authorship
